Informations complémentaires

Protect your phone and the planet

Dbramante1928 work to change the industry by providing long-lasting alternatives to single-use plastic products. Due to the material's durability, full-grain leather cases prolong the product life cycle, which is an important step to save on resources and thereby minimize the environmental footprint.

All our full-grain leather products are produced in our own solar panel driven factory, making our production 100% co2-neutral.

With guidance from WWF, we work towards becoming climate positive.
